

GREAT DIFFERENCE IN TRAINING METHODS OF THE TWO FIGHTERS

DEMPSY DOESN'T MIND BEING HIT, WHILE RIVAL AVOIDS ALL PUNISHMENT

Both Jack and Georges Have Tender Left Eyebrows, but This Is Only Mark of Battle Carried by the Frenchman.

By Robert Edgren.

DOWN at Atlantic City the Dempsey camp is worrying over that "soft" left eyebrow of Jack's, which is slow at healing because it has been cut several times in training bouts before this. Jamaica Kid ripped that eyebrow first at Toledo three weeks before Dempsey met Willard. A glancing left swing did the trick.

It healed well enough to stand the training work after a few days of rest, but Dempsey's sparring partners were cautioned against mauling up that eyebrow thereafter.

They could hit Jack on the chin or the nose and he had no complaint, but he didn't want a half healed cut over his eye when he got into the ring with Willard.

One of Willard's jabs might open it and, while no real damage would be done, Dempsey would appear to be in bad shape, and a little blood might influence the referee in giving a decision if the bout went the scheduled twelve rounds.

While there's no decision in the coming Carpenter match, Dempsey doesn't care to look like a loser through having a cut over his left eye. Another thing, a severe cut along the eyebrow, bleeding at times, is likely to interfere with the sight of a fighter's left eye, which is the eye nearest the enemy and naturally most active in seeing blows in time to block, avoid or counter.

That's why Jack has been punching the light and the heavy bags since last Sunday, has increased his road work and general training and cut out boxing.

Racing Patrons Anxious To See More Selling Events

Sam Hildreth's Repurchase of Regal Lodge Example of Interest in Such Races.

If the different racing secretaries on the Metropolitan circuit want to please their patrons they will card more of the old-fashioned selling races than they have been doing. Yesterday Regal Lodge, upon his return to the scales after winning the fifth, a selling race, found a bigger crowd awaiting him than Audacious did after winning the Suburban. Almost everyone who made up that crowd was present for the specific purpose of hearing the bidding on the good gelding—they knew Sam Hildreth would be anxious to have him back in the Rancocas barn if his condition warranted a raise of any sort, and were gratified when the bids ascended from above the entered price of $2,500 to $5,000, at which figure he returned to Hildreth who lost him at Jamaica because the judges conducting the auction failed to hear the Rancocas agent's protesting bid.

Regal Lodge ran as though he were worth fully the sum Hildreth paid for him, even though he is a cripple. His performance afforded joy to those who had supported him, and his sale little less. The scene at the judges' stand brought a reminder of the old days when the Drake-Gates and the Hildreth-Taylor-Blois confederacies were active; the days when hundreds made haste to the winning ring after the finish of every selling race and derived their great sensations from the spectacular bidding that invariably followed.

"The public likes selling races—they care little whether some $5,000 horse is entered below his value or he loses, but they love to see him win; they care nothing about claiming races—and because they pay the freight, it seems little enough to give them at least some of what they attend racing for—enjoyment."

Now that the Belmont Park stewards have disqualified Beverly Belle from her winning purse of June 1, they're trying to decide whether she is eligible to start in another maiden race. They have assumed since the disqualification that Dick Dempsey, who finished in second place, is no longer a maiden, and have ordered him penalized as a winner, but they are not quite prepared to admit that Beverly Belle is again a maiden. There cannot be two winners in any race—the law of the land would quickly decide that the filly is entitled to all maiden allowances, but the law of the turf cannot, because there is no rule that quite without letting them maul him. In his actual ring fight Dempsey never receives any injury, for he attacks so furiously that his opponents have always been too busy on the defense to have time to do much hitting.

In training, Carpenter uses all his skill to find openings and hit without being hit. If he is as elusive in a road fight as he is in practice bouts, even Dempsey is going to have trouble finding him. Not that Carpenter runs away. He doesn't. His footwork is very much like Benny Leonard's, as Benny showed it last Monday night in the fight with Kansas.

He moves straight in and straight back, only a few inches or a foot or two, in quick steps, balanced well on his toes and so lightly that his feet make no sound and seem hardly to touch the floor. He is always just near enough to deliver a blow if he sees an opening, and far enough away to duck out of danger.

Carpenter's training camp boxing is merely light, pleasant exercise. If he does any rough work it is in private. It can't be very rough at that, for training staff is not like Dempsey's, and unlike Dempsey he isn't sending around the country to dig up fellows who can maul and stand a mauling.

ABSCCESS MAY COST TILDEN HIS TITLE

LONDON, June 10.—William T. Tilden 2d, champion of everything worth while in lawn tennis, is suffering from an abscess on his neck and will be unable to play in the tournament now in progress for the Kent County championship.

Herbert L. Bourke expressed the opinion yesterday from Glenageary that if Tilden was not well enough to play at Rockhampton next week his chances in the challenge round for the All-England championship at Wimbledon will be jeopardized.

Columbia Crew to Be Favorites in Title Races

The Army holds the limelight at Belmont to-day. Several officers detailed to the Remount Division of the service will be seen riding either their own or horses owned by brother officers over the mile route in the fifth race. Not only are these horses well trained to run over the flat, but they could go over the steeplechase course as well, and they will as soon as some of the other associations card races for them. Every horse entered in today's race is destined for breeding, and they will supply the cavalry remounts for the country. They are the first examples of the type the Government badly needs to be seen together in competition heretofore.

Earl Sande's efforts to reduce so that he would be able to ride Carpet Sweeper with only a few pounds overweight proved too trying and he became ill yesterday and was forced to cancel his engagements for the afternoon. He will be back to-day, it was reported.

FAST TRIALS SHOWN FOR BELMONT STAKE

The features of the most recent training gallops at the local tracks were the works of the candidates for Saturday's Belmont Handicap, one of the principal distance races on the American turf. The Rancocas Stable representative Grey Laz went a mile and a quarter at Belmont in 2:06 fractionally 1:14 1-5, 1:39 2-5 and 2:06. Sporting Blood went over the same route in 2:05 going to the mile in 1:38 flat. Leonardo II. galloped the distance at Jamaica in 2:18. The best of all the trials are as follows:

AT JAMAICA.

Leonardo II. 1:32 1-5, 1:49 2-5. So It Goes. 45, 1:01 2-5. Parader. 50, 1:17. Leading Star. 50 2-5, 1:18. Big Noise and Princess Pandora. 1:03. Moody. 48. Irish Brigadier. 36. Silence. 53. ### ANSWERS TO ANXIOUS CORRESPONDENTS.

NUX VOMICA, Ossining—Carp and Dempsey represent different schools of fighters. Carp appears only in seven-reeders and Dempsey goes in for serials.

HOBOKEN ADMIRER—The referee will give the verdict. The Coroner's decision will be final.

A. W. O'L, Governor's Island—The fighters get 60 per cent. and Rickard 40. Dempsey gets 60 per cent. of the fighters' share and Carpenter 40. Only thing 50-50 about the fight is the price, of two ringside tickets.

T. A. EDISON, ORANGE, N. J.—THIS COLUMN CANNOT ANSWER YOUR QUESTIONS.

DUMB BELL, Harlem—A $5 seat will enable you to see the fight in the Sunday papers.

INQUIRER, PHILADELPHIA—DEMPSY'S FAVORITE EXERCISES ARE CHOPPING WOOD AND SPLITTING A GATE 60-40.

FIGHT FAN, Syracuse—The band at the arena will be equipped to play everything, including the "Marseillaise" at half-mast.

R. F. D. Mamaroneck—The only thing Dempsey charges at Carp's training quarters are photographers. He charges them over the fence.

have weight, so that the two are in his mind on even terms, or thereabouts.

Quarters are being made ready for the Pennsylvania, Navy and Cornell carnivals, all of whom are expected here on Sunday or Monday. The work is under the direction of Col. Lloyd Collis, a Columbia graduate and representative of the Board of Stewards. Col. Collis has had seemingly insurmountable difficulties to overcome in the way of making the houses fit for use, but they will all be ready on time.
